ClickEase is a simple way to create quizzes and for students in large lecture halls. It provides a simple way for professors to gauge how well students are understanding a topic as well as be able to take attendance without wasting class time. On top of all these innovative approaches, ClickEase is free to use and does not require the students to buy physical clickers or subscription plans. ClickEase authenticates student and professor logins by enforcing the use of academia email accounts (.edu). Professor can create spaces for all the different classes that they are teaching in a semester. Students can also enroll multiple classes within a semester.
